The Epos M series of loudspeakers evolved from the time honoured ES range of the eighties and nineties and until recently the M12 was the entry level speaker for the range. This two way bass reflex design features a 150mm bass/midrange driver and 25mm dome tweeter, both units designed in house. The real wood veneer cabinet, available in a choice of light cherry, dark cherry or black, is very well finished for the price. It has been said in fact that it is very well finished for three times the price!

There is provision for bi-wiring and thoughtfully the speakers are supplied with a set of foam bungs for the rear port to allow tuning of the speakers response to the particular room in which they are situated. Listening to the M12 is a joy. Just 38cm tall, the power these speakers produce suggests they should be larger. When placed on the optional ST12 open frame stands designed for this particular model, it is said they perform at their best.
